It was an awful day for the respectable inhabitants of the place; worse than any thing even the most timid of them had anticipated, when they showed jealousy of a popular movement against the proscribed religion; for the stimulus of famine and pestilence was added to hatred of Christianity, in that unreasoning multitude. The magistrates shut themselves up in dismay; the small body of Roman soldiery reserved their strength for the defence of themselves; and the poor wretches, not a few, who had fallen from the faith, and offered sacrifice, hung out from their doors sinful heathen symbols to avert a storm against which apostasy was no sufficient safeguard. In this conduct the Gnostics...
